FIRE DESTROYS
PITZER'S SCHOOL

Supposition is that Tramp Seeking Shelter from Severe Cold Started Blaze which Got beyond his Control.

Fire of undiscovered origin completely destroyed Pitzer's school house in Cumberland township several miles west of Gettysburg between two and three o'clock this morning. With the building there burned all of the contents, desks, fixtures, books, and other property.

The blaze was first discovered by J. J. Redding, Bernard Redding, living not far distant, saw the flames soon afterward, and John Zurgable, who lives within a short distance of the building, was aroused by the light, but only after the roof had fallen in. Other farmers hurried to the place and succeeded in confining the flames to the school building.

The only theory advanced is that an overheated stove was responsible for the fire, but residents of the vicinity say that it could not have started in that way unless some one broke into the house during the night and tampered with the stove. It had been fixed in the evening as usual and people who passed by as late as eleven o'clock saw nothing wrong. Mrs. Zurgable chanced to look out of her window an hour later and at that time discovered no indication of a fire.

Several school houses in the county have been visited by wanderers during the cold of the last few nights and it is possible that a tramp may have sought shelter at Pitzer's and unintentionally started a fire which got beyond his control.

The building was an old structure but was recently repaired and was regarded in good condition. Insurance was carried in the Mummasburg Mutual Company.

The school board will meet Wednesday morning to consider plans to continue school work for the remainder of the term and will immediately take up the proposition of rebuilding.

Pitzer's is located along Willoughby Run a short distance west of West Confederate avenue.

Several addresses were made and the meeting proved to be a decided success.

ELOPERS HOME AGAIN

Youthful Pair Back to Homes in Adams County.

With the objection of Mrs. Anna Melhorn, of McSherrystown, to give her consent to the marriage of her daughter, Claudine, to Eugene Stump, came the abrupt end on Saturday of the wedding romance of the elopers. Word to that effect was received by the Federated Charities in Baltimore and all arrangements for the proposed ceremony were called off.

The young couple were then sent to their homes in McSherrystown, arriving there Saturday evening. Eugene Stump is the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hamm, in that place.

GROW BITTER IN LICENSE HEARING

Hotel Washington Remonstrance Matter Continues Cause for Quarreling among Attorneys. Little Progress.

Exhibitions of more intense feeling than had been shown previously occurred constantly throughout the morning hearing of the remonstrance against the Washington Hotel license. Counsel clashed frequently. The first witness, C. C. Bream, was the occasion of the opening of hostilities which kept up through the remainder of the session.

Mr. Bream's testimony was singular to that of the witnesses previously examined in that he said he thought the proprietor a person perfectly fit to conduct the hotel and that he had never observed any violation of the liquor laws on or about the premises. Then came Charles H. Wilson, who testified that the Washington was the only European plan hotel in town.

He was followed by James Peters, of Straban township. Peters said he had seen people visibly affected by liquor buying drinks at the hotel, but that these people were not drunk. He testified as to Mr. Klinefelter's good reputation and to the necessity of the place. John Brehm, the fourth and last witness of the session, said that so far as he knew the place was properly conducted, and that Klinefelter was a good and competent man.

At this point Mr. Herch offered to terminate the hearing by agreeing to call an equal number of witnesses to refute any testimony that might be offered from the witness to be examined by counsel for the remonstrants. The Court observed that the hearing had been a very long one and asked the opposing counsel if they would agree to the proposition for the purpose of expediting the case. Mr. Keith's reply to this was that they "can't agree on anything."

Then followed an argument as to the admissibility of the applicant as a witness for cross-examination. Counsel for the remonstrants stated they intended to call the applicant, Mr. Klinefelter, as their first witness, and insisted that he should be examined as of the cross-examination at that time. The attorney for Mr. Klinefelter said he would not permit him to take the stand unless his fitness had been impugned by former testimony and assured he would, in that case, voluntarily take the stand.

Judge McPherson suggested that there had been much repetition of testimony and that the remonstrants might proceed with their side for the balance of the morning, that he would determine the right to call or not to call Klinefelter and announce his decision at the first opportunity stating, "If we have no limit we will never get through." The argument continued with references being cited until the court declared a recess for the remainder of the morning.

At one point during the morning's series of petty controversies one of the counsel stated he preferred not to be addressed at all by his opponent. Spectators appear to this of the same nature of the proceeding, and the room was not so well filled as it has been during the past few days.

Attorney Keith continued to address the Court in support of his contention of the morning, concerning the applicant taking the stand, when the hearing was resumed this afternoon.

During the latter part of Monday afternoon's session a number of witnesses were called to pile up evidence on necessity and the good character of Klinefelter. The plea that the Hotel Washington is a place where a working man may go to his working clothes and secure a meal at any hour of the day, with drink if he chooses, was emphasized and an effort made to show that this was the only place of the sort in town.

The only thing that bordered on the sensational occurred when Al. Stevens pointed out the date two were gathered around the evidence for the remonstrants and declared that he (the detective) had been "fused" a drink near midnight one Saturday after the bar had been closed. Klinefelter declaring he "wouldn't give it for $5.00."

WILL LOCAL TEAM
PLAY ON SUNDAY?

Two Towns Invited to Join League with Understanding that Games may be Advanced to First Day of the Week.

Will Gettysburg's team play Sunday base ball this summer? This question naturally follows the action taken by the Blue Ridge League clubs on Monday afternoon at Hagerstown when it was decided to invite Cumberland and Frostburg to join the circuit, making an eight club league. Both towns draw their largest crowds on Sunday and while no games are to be scheduled then, permission may be granted by the president of the league to move forward scheduled games to that day. It is understood, of course, that Gettysburg, Hanover, and Chambersburg will not permit Sunday base ball in their own towns, but whether or not they will agree to play on that day when away from home is the question at issue. The sentiment is strongly against such a practice, it is said, and it is likely that the three Pennsylvania teams will refuse to enter into such an arrangement.

The admission of the two Maryland towns into the league came as a decided surprise. It had been generally understood, before the meeting at Hagerstown on Monday, that it would require a two-thirds vote of all the teams to admit them, but at the meeting it was ruled differently and when the vote stood 3-3, President Boyer simply decided the matter by voting for their admission. It is understood that both towns will accept the invitation to join.

Other action taken at Monday's meeting which will meet with disfavor here was the decision to open on or about May 15. This will make conditions even worse than last year for it will give Gettysburg a month without her college players, and the team will in all probability get away with a "bad start" again. The season is extended, the closing date being September 4.

The following officers were chosen: president, Charles W. Boyer, Hagerstown; vice presidents, W. F. Holler, Chambersburg; John A. Sheely, Hanover; and Frank Schmidt, Frederick; treasurer, John W. Stewart, Martinsburg; and secretary, J. A. Holzworth, Gettysburg.

Mr. Boyer will receive $200 for his services and Mr. Stewart $25. In appreciation of Mr. Boyer's work last year the clubs in the league on Monday presented him with a gold watch.

The salary limit was advanced from $800 to $900 a month, and the players limited to twelve. In both instances exclusive of the managers. The price of admission will be the same as last year.

It was decided to admit ministers free to all games the coming season.

HANOVER YOUTH TO PENITENTIARY

Tell-Tale Clothing Left in Store Largely Responsible for Fixing Guilt. Lad is only Eighteen Years of Age.

Herbert R. Coombs, 18 years old, residing in Hanover, was sentenced to the Eastern penitentiary for a term of three to ten years, by Judge Wanner, in York on Monday, on pleas of guilty to six burglaries committed recently in Hanover and vicinity. This is the first time a prisoner of that age has been sent to the penitentiary by the York court. As a justification for it Judge Wanner remarked that the criminality of the prisoner seemed so great that a sentence to the Hanover reformatory would fail adequately to meet the situation.

Coombs had previously been committed to the house of refuge at Glen Mills, but this seemed to the court to have confirmed him to a career of crime rather than to have effected a reformation. Besides confessing the six crimes for which he had been arrested, the youthful prisoner, when taken into custody by Borough Constable Smeach, had in his pocket a long list of places in Hanover which he intended to enter and rob.

The department store of J. W. Gitt and Company was entered on January 6, last. Goods aggregating in value $50 were taken, including jewelry, an overcoat, a suit of clothes and other merchandise. Coombs inadvertently left his old clothing in the Gitt store and put on a new suit which he had taken, and in this manner he was apprehended. The other places entered were the office of the abattoir of A. F. Reis, which was robbed twice, once on October 17 and again on January 22; offices of E. D. Bortner and Keystone wire works, and the barn of A. S. Thoman, of Blooming Grove, Pennsylvania.

Many of the articles stolen have been recovered and returned to their owners.

C. O. McLaughlin endeavored to obtain a license for the Orrstown hotel, which is now without a license. He is a former proprietor of the place. He found, however, that he could not get the necessary twelve signatures to his petition in Orrstown. He procured eleven but could not get the one additional name needed.

RAILROAD WILL BUILD RESERVOIR

Not only for their Own Use, it is Said, but Possibly to Help Hagerstown in Event of Shortage. Expensive Work.

The Western Maryland Railroad Company is doing big things now-a-days. During the early part of the past week, a large force of men began work constructing an additional track from Edgemont to Blue Mountain station.

In addition to double-tracking this line from these two points, another large force of men has begun work on a reservoir to be built a short distance from Edgemont. This reservoir is to be one of the largest constructed anywhere along the line of the Western Maryland system and will cost thousands of dollars.

For several years a reservoir of this kind has been needed at Edgemont, which is the junction point of the Main Line and Cumberland Valley branch and both passenger and freight locomotives can get their supply of water without having to replenish it either at Chambersburg or Highfield.

It is reported that this reservoir will not only supply the needs of the railroad system but the probabilities are that Hagerstown and Smithsburg will receive a share of the water, as it is a well known fact that Hagerstown has suffered from a shortage in their water supply, and now that the Maryland city is making such advanced strides in business and increase in population, the demand for more water will only be a matter of a few years—and maybe months.

If this plan works out it will probably mean the abandonment of the present project of the Washington County Water Company to build a large reservoir covering some forty acres in Raven Rock gorge.

The stream at Edgemont is a particularly strong one and the natural conditions of the gorge just west of the tracks are ideal for the building of a reservoir.

As the mills heretofore served by this stream have been dismantled and in a state of ruin the question of water rights would not interfere with the building of the railroad reservoir.

VILLA MEN KILL 2 MORE AMERICANS

Mining Prospectors Slain by Mexican Bandits.

GORE PLANS JOINT ACTION

Senate Resolution Would Establish a Neutral Zone, Policed by Both Governments.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 18.—Albert Simmons, of Los Angeles, and Victor Hamilton, of Chicago, were murdered at Piedra Blanca, Mexico, by Villa bandits, according to a despatch from Juarez. The men were mining prospectors. The Carranza officials said that as far as they have been able to learn, the two Americans were killed without a chance to get out of the country and that the murders were committed simply because the men were Americans and subjects of the Wilson administration which is supporting the Carranza government.

Piedra Blanca, the place where the Americans were killed, is sixty miles west of Torreon.

The report of the killing of the two Americans came through the Carranza military officials at Juarez. They declared that Simmons and Hamilton had been killed by bandits under the leadership of the Arreola brothers.

Urge Joint Action to Stop Murders.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Establishment of a neutral zone in northern Mexico, to be jointly policed by the forces of Mexico and the United States unless disorders are speedily controlled, is proposed in a resolution introduced by Senator Gore, Democrat, of Oklahoma. The resolution, which was referred to the foreign relations committee, would authorize the president to enter into an agreement with General Carranza to use troops to restore order, and make life secure in that portion of Mexico adjacent to the United States. There was no discussion on the proposal.

Evidence obtained at El Paso by state department agents indicates that Carranza authorities at Chihuahua assured C. R. Watson, head of the party of American mining men, of whom sixteen were killed near Santa Isabel that no escort was necessary.

In that opinion many of the Americans concurred, although they had suggested to the authorities the advisability of sending troops with the party.

The advisers further said the Carranza governor of Chihuahua gave Watson a personal passport, and that the Carranza immigration authorities in Juarez gave a general passport for the whole party. These developments are taken to point to responsibility of the Carranza government for not adequately protecting the Americans.

State department officials indicated, however, that they did not consider the advisers as being finally sufficient to determine the responsibility of the Carranza government, and further investigation will be made.

THE KAISER SPEEDS TO RUSSIAN FRONT

German Offensive Expected When He Reaches War Zone.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—Emperor William, officially announced to be completely recovered and returning to the front, is reported at headquarters to be on his way to the eastern theatre of war.

It is in the east that well-informed persons expect the next great battle to occur, and the arrival of the Kaiser there may be the signal for a renewal of the German offensive against the Russians, which was halted by the Serbian campaign.

Many Germans believe the war will be won within Russia. The deadlock in the west is one that cannot be broken by the Teutons or the allies without enormous losses that would make victory in such operations an empty one, according to some German experts. They point out the length of the front in Russia makes the eastern theatre of war the only one in which there can be any exercise of military strategy.

The belief is growing in Berlin that there will be no campaign against Salonika. By its victory in Serbia, Germany accomplished its two-fold purpose of making Bulgaria its ally and stopping the transportation of ammunition to Russia from Salonika. Nothing further would be gained by the capture of Salonika, the experts say.

MONTENEGRO SUES FOR PEACE

Quitting of Little Kingdom Confirmed at Budapest.

SURRENDER IS UNCONDITIONAL

Berlin, by wireless to Saville, L. I., Jan. 18.—The Overseas News Agency announces that Count Tisza, the Hungarian premier, had declared in the Hungarian parliament that Montenegro had asked for peace.

Montenegro which asked for the armistice last Thursday, consented unconditionally to lay down her arms and would be accorded the peace she requested, the premier declared.

The news agency report reads as follows:

"The proceedings under the first paragraph of the order of the day had just been completed when Count Tisza asked permission to interrupt the discussion. He stated that the king and government of Montenegro had asked the inauguration of peace negotiations.

"The announcement caused a great commotion in parliament.

"We asked that beforehand Montenegro unconditionally lay down her arms," continued the premier.

"Joyful shouts followed this statement.

"Just at this moment," continue the prime minister, "the news has arrived that the unconditional laying down of arms has been accepted.

"Since the preliminary condition has been fulfilled, peace negotiations will be entered into immediately."

Terms Offered by Austria.

London, Jan. 18.—Terms of the separate peace said to have been offered by Austria to Montenegro are given in an Athens despatch as follows:

Austria engaged to guarantee Montenegro all territorial rights in Scutari in exchange for the cession of Mt. Lovcen to Austria.

Following Austria's fall, the Montenegro officials in Scutari retired to Alessia, twenty miles south of Scutari and near the Adriatic sea.

First to Quit in War.

A despatch from Rome said the Montenegrin authorities officially denied that Montenegro had ever adhered to or intended to adhere to any separate proposal of peace or to any armistice with Austria. It was declared, added the despatch, that King Nicholas and his army and people would continue to fight till the last man.

The announcement in the Berlin news agency despatch that Montenegro has asked for peace, it accurately marks the first known definite step taken by any of the belligerents in the European war toward the making of peace.

Montenegro entered the war on August 8, 1914, when the government of the country informed the Austrian minister at Vienna that Montenegro considered herself in a state of war with Austria.

DEADLOCK IN GALICIA

Vienna War Office Says Russians Lost Heavily in Desperate Battle.

Vienna, Jan. 18.—The desperate and sanguinary struggle between Russian and Austro-Hungarian forces in east Galicia and Bessarabia continues with very heavy losses to the Russians according to an official statement at the war office.

Russian attacks are said to have been repeatedly repulsed, frequently in bayonet fighting.

"The recent Russian defeat on the Bessarabian frontier," says the statement, "has resulted in a pause in the operations which is only interrupted by intermittent artillery fire. An Austro-Hungarian patrol attacked by surprise a Russian advance post south of Karpilovka and annihilated its occupants."

ALLIES SHELL LILLE WITH 20-MILE GUNS

Lens, Held by Germans, Also Under Bombardment.

London, Jan. 18.—Guns to match the mighty, long-range howitzers of the Germans have at last reached the allies' front in France, says an Amsterdam despatch.

Chief interest is centered in the German announcement that the British have bombarded Lille (in France) using a gun with a range estimate at twenty miles.

This is the first time that Lille has been under artillery fire since it fell into the hands of the Germans in September, 1914. German guns with a range of twenty miles, which were used for the bombardment of Dunkirk and Verdun, were hitherto unmatched on the allies' side, but the latest developments show that the Germans must now face equal metal.

It is regarded as significant that the English make no announcement of the shelling of Lille, while the French war office states that the Lille highway was shelled. The German war office announces that projectiles fell in the center of the city.

The German war office announced an allied bombardment of Lens, called the key to Lille. Sixteen inhabitants of the town were killed or wounded by the shell fire, the Berlin statement adds.

PAYING OFF CHILDREN

Pittsburgh, Jan. 18.—The first day's experience in payment of H. C. Frick's gifts to the school children of Pittsburgh who have money tied up in the Bank for Savings show that the majority are loath to trust a bank with their savings, as it was reported that ninety per cent of those receiving their money refused to reinvest.

Only a third of the city school-children were eliminated, and about $1000 was paid out at the Union Savings bank of which Mr. Frick is a director. Children were used to persuade the children to put their money back in Mr. Frick's bank, and all their checks of the failed bank were cashed without question.

BUSHMAN SUEED

Piano Company Seeks to Recover Price of Instrument.

Francis X. Bushman, the moving picture actor, who recently leased an estate near Baltimore, was sued in the Circuit Court at Towson, on Monday, by the Rudolph Wurdlitzer Company, of Chicago, to recover a balance alleged to be due on an installment note given by Mr. Bushman for a player piano, costing $850, a player bench and $15 worth of player rolls.

It is claimed by the company that it had the piano made to order for Mr. Bushman and that after he had paid about $400 on it he became dissatisfied and refused to pay the balance. The company also claims that Mr. Bushman moved the piano from Chicago to his Baltimore county home.

It is understood that Mr. Bushman does not dispute that he contracted for the piano, but says that when the contract was made the company did not have the style of piano in stock and sent to Boston for it. He also asserts that after the company delivered the instrument, it was found not satisfactory.

Athletic Council Needed.
The Athletic Research society, an organization comprising many prominent physical directors, advocated at its annual meeting at New York city recently a national council to control amateur sports in the United States. A special committee which has studied this question for a year reported that such a council should be representative of each national organization interested in athletics. The report recommended that such a council should establish national standards of amateurism, promulgate rules and adopt a honor code for all branches of sport, serve as arbiters in disputes between members, pass upon reinstatements in cases of violation of the amateur code, conduct a bureau of records for all sports, decide and administer questions relating to the representation of the United States in international bodies connected with such contests as the Olympic games.

The committee found that sums of money had changed hands on the result of the game and that the players received considerable sums of money. LIVE STOCK NOTES.
Cheapest and simplest kind of be kept in a box handy for the cows in all pens and pastures.
Farmers should feed more grain and less hay to their horses during the winter. There is no sense in stuffing a horse's manger with hay or straw all day.
Do not feed corn to the cow while they are carrying their lambs.
Wheat middlings are one of the best feeds for young and growing pigs.
Kindness beats gruffness in getting work out of horses.
Sheep should be given a middle of grain and lots of forage. All fall they love corn stover they will eat. Silage is much more palatable as a feed for ewes. There is none better.

FEEDING LAMBS FOR THE SPRING MARKET

Two years ago on Jan. 10 the firm of J. B. Gentry & Son, Ohio, placed 1,250 lambs weighing fifty-six pounds each in their barns, writes a correspondent of the National Stockman. After shearing they were shipped as finished during the month of April. Market weights averaged ninety-seven pounds, and the fleece average was six pounds. Incidentally it may be stated that but one lamb was lost during the feed.

Such lambs are started on hay, but shelled corn and silage are begun in short rations. These lambs never get

The Karakul sheep comes from the vicinity of Bokhara, Asia, and is the sheep that produces the fur known as Persian lamb. The mature Karakul is a large sheep, pretty leggy as a rule, horned, with a black face and with a black hairy fleece that fades out to a brownish tinge. As Karakuls develop much quicker than our sheep, it has been found that half blooded animals of the same weight at three months that ordinary sheep do at six months, making possible much earlier marketing. The sheep shown is a Karakul.

A full feed till after shearing, when they are supposed to consume three bushels of shelled corn and 200 pounds of silage to the 100 lambs daily. As lambs vary greatly in the avidity with which they take to the grain ration at first, ten minutes only is allowed them in which to eat, and at the end of that time the corn remaining is removed to prevent overeating by eager lambs. Shelled corn is fed in the morning. After this clover or alfalfa hay is provided in the racks till evening, when the silage is fed with a sprinkling of shelled corn. The alfalfa and clover are not fed in each lot individually, but the kind of hay remains the same for a given lot of lambs from day to day. No corn is cut on the Guthrie farms, so no corn stover is ever fed to lambs.

STEERS IN WINTER.

Method of Feeding For Making Economical Gains.
When steers are taken from pasture those that would be considered "our leaders" on the market should be fed a roughage ration during a period of about two months, a concentrate being added to this ration to finish on the animals.

One of the most economical methods of feeding steers during winter, as demonstrated by experiments of the Pennsylvania State college, is to feed during the first two months corn silage and a small allowance of mixed hay or corn stover, sufficient to moist the appetite, and two and a half to three pounds of cottonseed meal for each three pounds of weight daily. The first three months steers can gain at the rate of twenty pounds for every hundred pounds weight in shelled corn. At the rate of twelve pounds for every hundred pounds weight, dairy steers should be fed the ration.

It is also noted that the greatest gain is made by the least expenditure of cash. Steers in a low physical condition at the beginning of the feeding period can utilize the roughage to a great degree. Some of the best dairy steers in the state are of this kind. Such steers are a good marketable commodity, which is a great economic advantage to the farmer.

Only Steers.

WINTER CARE OF CELLARS.
Uniform Temperature and Good Ventilation Are Positive Requirements.
A uniform temperature of 50 degrees, perfect ventilation and good order are the three essentials for success with the cellar in winter. Uniform temperature and ventilation, of course, are positive requirements, for without them the value of the cellar will be lost. Cellars are used primarily for storage purposes, and when the temperature is above 50 degrees the root crops and fruit will shrivel and even start growth. Since potatoes are stored in the cellar and losses of potatoes are due to moisture and high temperature, it is necessary to maintain a temperature of 40 degrees or under.

The storage part of the cellar should be separated from the section containing the heating plant, so that little if any heat will pass through. This requires a strong, substantial wall, and the tighter it is built the better will be the insulation. Then there should be a ventilator which will admit air from the outside and which can be opened or closed at the will of the owner. As even a cellar should have a good stand and thermometer, the temperature can be watched and regulated. If the opening is on an unprotected place it can be covered with several thicknesses of burlap. This will prevent direct drafts of wind blowing into the cellar and prevent the heating temperature. The farm home derives much good from a first rate cellar.

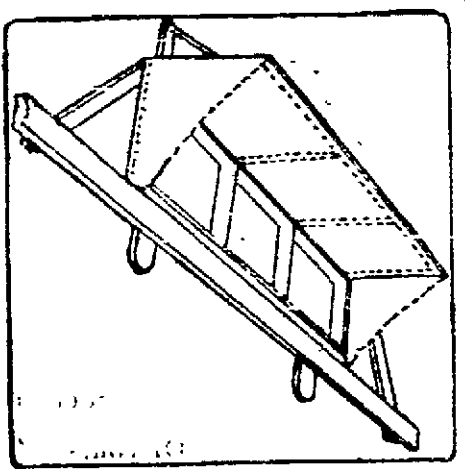

Caring For the Colt In Winter.

The important question for the owner of the growing colt through the winter is to keep him in good condition. Many colts are kept from pasture with a good store of hay to be turned out to a straw pile for feed and shelter and when cold winds and rain are all that is needed.

To parts of oats preferably crushed and one part of bran make a very suitable feed for growing colts. In cold weather a little corn may be added, not to exceed 25 percent of the ration. If clover or alfalfa is used as half of the roughage ration no oilseed will be needed, but if the roughage consists of wild hay or corn stover about 8 percent of oilseed should be added to the grain ration. Where oats are high in price and barley is plentiful a ration of crushed barley, 60 percent, bran, 20 percent, and oilseed, 10 percent, should give good results.

The Hopperdoser.

There are sections where grasshoppers are annual pests. When they come next season this old device for getting rid of them. It was first used during the migratory grasshopper invasion.

It consists of shallow sheet iron pans, containing oil or tar, mounted on low wheels or sled runners. An upright screen at the back catches the hoppers as the machine is drawn forward.

A Roup Preventive.

There is no cure for roup, but here is a recipe for prevention. Clean quarters, which means freedom from insect pests; clean floor, new earth if the floor is of dirt; regular cleaning; not necessarily daily.

TIMELY FARM HINTS.

An old story in the woodshed will make a fine place in which to mend the harness and do odd jobs of carpentry.

It is a good idea to give the master a good meal when you are in the house, not more than ten.

REPUBLICANS ASK FOR INTERVENTION

G. O. P. Leaders Never Satisfied With Administration's Policy.

MEXICO NEEDS DICTATOR.

No President Can Crush the Revolutionists, and the Nature of the People Makes It Necessary to Rule With Strong Arm—Ignorant Peons and Indians Cannot Govern Themselves.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN

Washington, Jan. 15 (Special). The Republicans have never been satisfied with the conduct of affairs in Mexico. Had it not been for the European war there would have been much more severe criticism of the administration's policy, and it may have been that long before this intervention would have been forced by public opinion.

One thing, upon which President Wilson was identified from the beginning of his administration was, that there should be no war while he was president. He was not quite able to keep his promise to himself in this regard for the taking of Veracruz was an act of war. But he has been successful in keeping this country out of any real war which would mean national ruin.

Will Always Be Troublesome.

Mexico will always be troublesome. The only thing of the country which is a danger to keep a sensible eye on is the fact that it is a danger to keep a sensible eye on. As long as our policy is to keep the country in a state of anarchy, it will be a danger to keep a sensible eye on.

Such a country as Mexico must be governed by a dictator. It is impossible to make a country like this a democracy. As long as our policy is to keep the country in a state of anarchy, it will be a danger to keep a sensible eye on.

Do You Feel Headachy

Look To Your Stomach

It is an unusual thing for a druggist to sell medicine under a guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. Yet this is the way The Peoples' Drug Store, the popular druggist, is selling Mj-o-na, the standard dyspepsia remedy.

Never before have they had so large a number of customers tell them that a medicine has been successful as with Mj-o-na. People who a few minutes ago looked like walking skeletons are now eating and drinking with appetite and vigor and perfect digestion and good health.

There is no longer any need for any suffering or making their friends suffer on account of dyspepsia. Mj-o-na can always be relied upon. The percentage of cures is so great that there is little risk in The Peoples' Drug Store in guaranteeing to refund the money if the medicine does not relieve. And they stand ready to do so without any question.

Headaches, all forms of indigestion, peptic ulcers, dizziness, nervousness, and all forms of liver trouble are relieved by Mj-o-na. A few days' treatment should show considerable gain in health while a complete cure will follow rapidly.

ALLIES AGAIN DEFEAT TURKS

British in Mesopotamia and Russia in Caucasus Gain.

MOSLEMS ARE IN FLIGHT

Are Driven Back Almost to Kut Where British Force is Besieged. Slaves Make Big Gain.

London, Jan. 18.—British and Russian drives against the Turkish armies in Mesopotamia and the Caucasus are rolling back the Moslem forces, and two more defeats have been inflicted on the Moslems on these fronts.

The British army, under General Aylmer, after defeating the Turks a few days ago, dealt another severe blow to the retreating forces and the latter fell back to within six miles of Kut-el-Amara.

In the Caucasus the Russians are growing in magnitude and importance and the official reports tell of another Slav success, the Turks, after a violent engagement, were forced to retreat, at some points, more than five miles.

Relief apparently is in sight for the British force under General Townshend that has been in a precarious position at Kut-el-Amara in Mesopotamia for some time since it was compelled to fall back from the vicinity of Bagdad.

It was officially announced that the relief column under General Aylmer, proceeding up the Tigris river had inflicted a defeat on the Turks, who after being driven out of their positions at Waddi had fallen back to within six miles of Kut-el-Amara.

They had been beaten previously at Ofrah, twenty-five miles down the Tigris from Kut, according to a British official announcement. The Turkish official statement makes no mention of these operations, reporting merely intermittent artillery fighting near Kut-el-Amara.

Following closely the announcement from Constantinople that a Russian offensive along a 100-mile front south of the Aras had been inaugurated, comes the further news that the attack is being pressed, the Turkish war office admitting that the attempts to break the Russian advance have succeeded only in a small way.

At the same time, where advance posts were being driven back several miles, the Russian forces have had heavy losses inflicted upon them, the Turks claim.

Military observers have been expecting for some time developments of a decisive character in this region. When Grand Duke Nicholas was relieved of the command of the main Russian army and sent back to take charge of the Caucasus, it was intimated in the imperial order announcing the change that additional attention would be given the operations on that front.

There have been developing in magnitude, but it now appears that the preparations have been made and the drive into the interior is being attempted. The move is doubtless in junction with the British operations in Mesopotamia and the Russian activity in Persia.

EX-PASTOR AND 71 OTHERS HELD IN RIOT

Three Men May Die, Including a State Trooper.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 18.—With heads swathed in bandages, eyes of some almost swollen shut, and heads and faces of others carrying cuts and bruises from the riots when several hundred men and women fought in defiance of court orders for control of the Sacred Heart church, Dupont, against a company of state troopers, and a squad of sheriff's deputies, seventy-one men were arraigned before Judge H. A. Miller, sitting as a committing magistrate.

All were charged with rioting, unlawful assembling and accessories before the fact to a felonious wounding. Each of the seventy-one was held under $20 bail for the grand jury, and about fifty failed to get bail and were committed to jail.

Rev. Edward Gnowa, deposed priest, whose name the rioters championed, was arrested on a warrant issued by the district attorney on the same charges as preferred against the rest of the prisoners. Because he is alleged to have urged his followers to battle against the representatives of the law, Court fixed bail in his case at $2000. He was able to secure a bondsman.

A revised list of the dead and injured showed George Gruetzer to have been fatally shot. Joseph Blum was shot through the chest and is expected to die. Ross W. Hummer, state trooper, still is in a serious condition from a fractured skull and his recovery is doubtful. All of the thirty-one state troopers were hurt, but only seven received severe injuries.

King Urges Sweden to Arm.

Disregard of Neutral Rights Increases Need of Preparedness.

London, Jan. 18.—The Swedish Parliament was opened. In the speech from the throne, as forwarded by Reuters' correspondent at Stockholm, King Gustave said:

"A formidable struggle of ever-increasing intensity, which will decide the future of nations, is taking place. Our government earnestly hopes to be able always to maintain the neutrality which it decided to observe from the beginning, but to maintain neutrality and the sovereignty of Sweden, increased forces on land and sea must be readied."

"Sweden has felt the effects of the war in enormous ways during the last year. Belligerents have neglected in an ever-increasing degree to observe international law providing for protection of neutrals and for limitation of deeds of violence."

King Gustave emphasized Sweden's part in upholding international law and the constant difficulties she is meeting to obtain her economic rights, because of the attitude of belligerents. The government had been compelled more than once, he said, to resist attempts to place the industrial and commercial rights of the country under the assumed control of another power.

THE KITCHEN CUPBOARD

The Salad Bowl.

ASSORTED FRUIT SALAD.

Prepare finely cut celery with the shredded whites of hard-boiled eggs. Mash the yolks to a smooth paste with skinned and boiled sardines and shape the mixture into balls, dipping them at last into a little of the dry yolk so as to make them a rich yellow. Dress the celery and egg whites with French dressing or mayonnaise, put the mixture on a bed of lettuce.

Whole Tomato Salad.—Scald some large, fully ripe and yet firm tomatoes; remove skins and put them against the ice for several hours. Put a whole tomato on one or two lettuce leaves, dress with well-chilled mayonnaise and serve in this individual manner. This salad is meat and drink in point of nutriment, and many persons find it quite enough for the substantial dish of a Sunday night tea.

Fish Salad.—A delicious salad which is yet something out of the regular course is made of Bismark herrings, three of which would make a dish large enough for several persons. Put the herrings in a bowl and cover them with a dressing made of five oil, cayenne, horseradish and sliced white onion; add a tablespoonful of sauce and one of walnut ketchup. After the fish has soaked some time in the dressing, arrange it in a bed of lettuce finely shredded with the fingers and pour over the sauce.

Pickled Mussel Salad.—Line a bowl with thin strips of hard toast, then put in a pile of pickled mussels, dressing with oil and vinegar in which some sliced onion has soaked for awhile. The mussels can be had bottled, and all the good fish stores keep the freshly prepared ones over the season for them arrives. Add enough of the pickle liquid to moisten the toast.

Cheese Salad.—Rub cottage cheese to a smooth paste with cream, butter and salt; make the mixture into balls. Then rub a salad bowl with a cut clove of garlic and fill it with celery or endive cut into narrow strips; border the bowl with the cheese balls after the center part of the salad has been treated to a French dressing.

Almond Salad.—Stone and chop six fat pimento olives, add half a cupful of blanched almonds, cut fine and the same quantity of finely cut celery. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise made without mustard.

Model For White Linen Waists.

designed. It is made without a lining and has a convertible collar, so that women who like high effects may be gratified, while those who cling to the turn-over collar may also be pleased. In medium size the waist requires 2 1/2 yards 36-inch linen.

In using 36-inch material it will be seen by the cutting guide that pleating for the side front is necessary. As the front section is placed upon the material first the pleating may be placed near it in the space just below the top of the under-arm seam. Next comes the back laid on lengthwise fold, followed by the collar, the lap and then the sleeve. Only the back is laid on the lengthwise fold, all the other sections of the patterns being placed on a lengthwise thread. The facing is laid to the right of the front, while the collar comes next.

If the short sleeve is preferred to the long, cut off the lower part of sleeve on small perforations. The finished edge of the sleeve may then be finished with piping, with a cuff, or may be slightly gathered with a lace edging added for the finishing touch.

Embroidery is the most logical trimmings for waist in this season, whether they be of silk or linen. It can be applied simply or elaborately with equally fashionable effect.

Are Boys' Shoes Made of Paper?

Mother sometimes is prone to think so, as she sees them rent in tatters.

She wonders if leather has gone out of use by shoemakers.

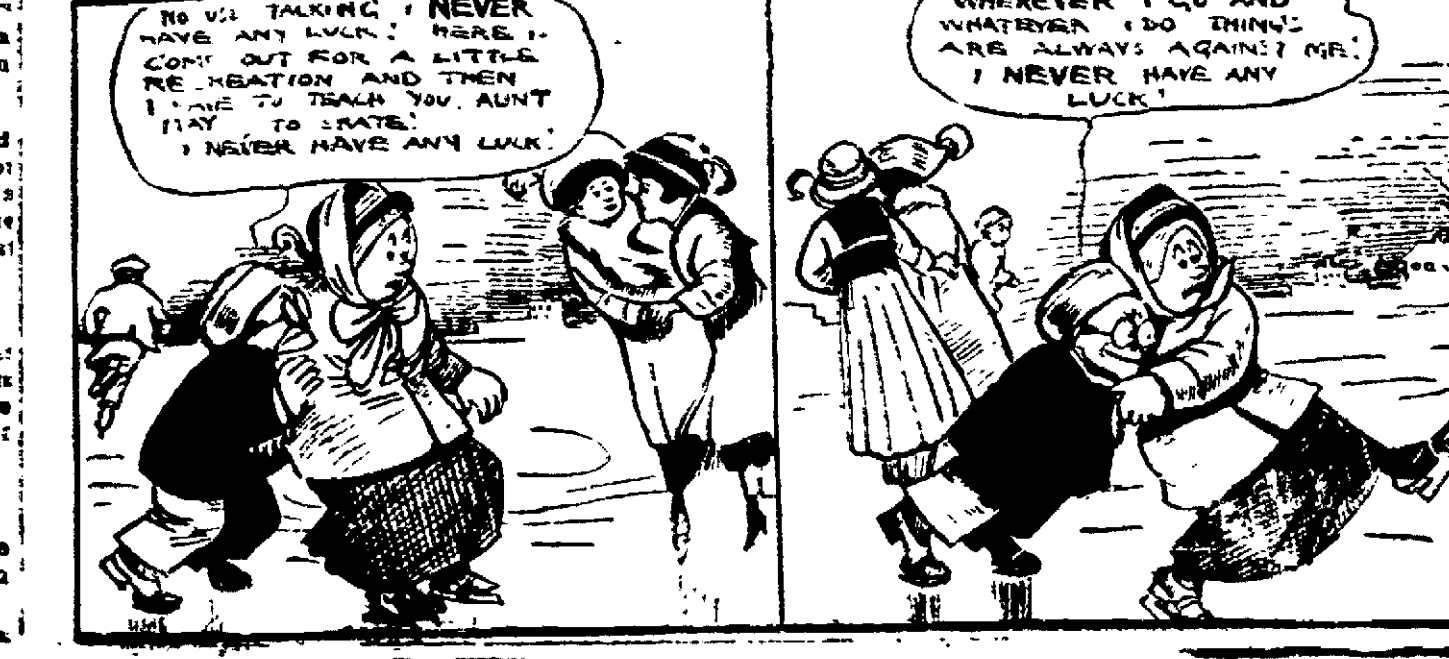

Of course, the shoe a healthy boy could not wear out is one he couldn't wear.

But there are degrees in boy's shoes. Some are very much better than others.

Several brands have been built up by a maintained reputation for sterling qualities.

Mother should look into this shoe question carefully—and a good way to gather information is to read the advertising in a live newspaper like The Times.

Should you desire to make up Underwear at home we can furnish you the right materials at a saving, for the reason that we placed large orders months ago at July prices.

From orders placed at the time of the Mill clean up, we are now offering 150 Counterpanes of All Sizes, Crochet, Satin Finish, Marseilles &c., Square and Cut Corners, at prices which positively better those we gave in early Fall. While this lot lasts, no advance.

We are glad to be able to say that we are in a position to furnish all widths of Sheeting and Pillow Muslins, all sizes of Sheets and Pillow Cases, either made up or by the yard at old prices. A number of grades in every width.

These wonderfully sturdy weaves for use for boys and girls of any age, as well for grown ups, are here in full assortments and at old prices, and in some instances at less than the makers advertised prices. Yard wide Percales at 9 & 12 1-2 cts.

Belgian and Irish Linen Weaves in which we overbought last Spring. A saving of a fourth over this year's prices.

A White year, or season is expected and the makers have outdone themselves in originating designs and weaves. Our orders are much in excess of any previous year for January, and as the scarcity has prevented us showing our completed purchase now, they are straggling in and even at that we are now showing more patterns and weaves than we have ever been able to show before.

Many of our November and December purchases for February and March deliveries are now in stock in advance of original desires. Styles are the very newest and values are exceptional. We are quite sure that at no time later will we be able to duplicate these prices.

A delayed Import has brought us 10 pieces of Damasks and 80 dozen Napkins to match, identically the old quality that we always sold at $1.00, $1.25 & $1.50 per yard, in the best of patterns. This cannot happen again until flax raising and linen weaving gets back to normal.

A JOB THAT FAILED

By SARAH BAXTER

I'm a lady's maid.

When Mrs. Peabody went away for two weeks she said to me: "Mary, I haven't time to put my jewels in the bank, and I'm going to leave them in your care. Keep them in the closet in the room where the telephone instrument is and sleep there. In case a burglar comes into the house you can call the police. But you needn't fear his breaking down the door of your room. Burglars never do that."

"Mrs. Peabody," I said, "you're very good to trust me with such valuable property. I'll have your jewels for you when you come back."

"But remember, Mary," she said, "I am trusting you only, not the other servants. There's no need of that."

"Yes," says I.

I didn't tell the others, but the day after Mrs. Peabody left James, the butler, came into the room for something and saw me lock the door of the closet.

"What are you locking up so carefully?" he asked me.

"It's none of your business," says I.

"Yes, it is. Mr. Peabody put the house in my care while the family is away, and if there's valuables anywhere I'd ought to know it."

Fearing he'd talk about it before the other servants, I thought I'd best tell him that mistress's jewels were in the closet.

Thursday before the family came home was my day out. I thought at first that I wouldn't go on account of the jewels, but they were locked in the closet and I would take the key with me. So I went. When I came back I went in at the servants' door and up to my room, where I took off my coat and hat and put on my black and white uniform. Then I went out into the hall.

There is a long mirror in the hall and usually when I passed it I gave a glance at myself in it. But this time I was in a hurry, so I didn't.

But at the end of the hall, where there was no mirror, I saw myself coming toward myself. I stopped, wondering what was the matter, for the mirror hadn't been moved, and I couldn't understand seeing myself. Then the figure came toward me, and I saw that it was a real woman, and what broke me up was that she was not me. I caught at the banister to keep from falling; then I gasped:

"Who are you?"

"I'm Mary Murphy," says she, looking astonished.

"No, you're not. I'm Mary Murphy, myself."

"You? Mary Murphy? Then, who am I?"

"Something has gone wrong with me," I moaned, rubbing my eyes. "I'm Mary Murphy, and you're Mary Murphy too."

"You look just like me for all the world," says she, looking frightened. "I'm afraid something's going to happen, seeing myself this way. I'm going away from you."

James came up the stairs, and seeing the two of us looking just alike he looked queer.

"James," I cried, "what does this mean? Am I Mary Murphy, and is that my other self, or is she Mary Murphy, and I—I don't know what."

James stared at us both for some time, as if he didn't know which was which; then he pointed to my other self and said:

"That's Mary."

"Anyway," says the other maid, "I'm going away from here. I can't stand it to see you there looking just like me."

Cook, hearing the talking, came up, and when she saw the two of us looking just alike, she raised her hands astonished.

"Cook," I said, "who is this woman who is just like me?"

"I don't know," says cook. "She came in a little while ago, and I supposed she was you. She went upstairs and that's all I know."

"Is she me or am I me?"

Cook looked at us both, then said to the other one, "Say something." But the other one wouldn't speak. Then I thought that she wouldn't because cook would tell the difference in our voices.

Somehow at that moment I thought of the jewels. Wasn't this some way of getting them? I wondered if this woman hadn't dressed herself in maid's uniform to make believe she was me, came in when I was out and taken them. But how was it that she looked just like me? The thought made me furious. I ran to her and grabbed her. She struggled to get away, and in the fracas I heard something strike the floor, and there were the jewels scattered all over it.

"James," I cried, "go to the telephone and call the police."

James didn't stir. He looked frightened. Then I told cook to go, and she did. The woman I held struggled, and I asked James to help me, but he didn't. He looked kind of daff.

The police were not long coming. It turned out that James, who was laid down a woman who looked just like me. He put up a job with her to get the jewels. He took a wax impression of the lock of the closet and made a key to fit it. Then he telephoned the woman when I went out, and she came right around dressed in maid's uniform. James expected her to get the jewels away without any one knowing he had put her up to it.

With Mrs. Peabody learned what had happened she put a thousand dollars for me in the bank. James and the woman who did the job were sent up for five years.

ROCK ROADS—ROCK VALUES.

Kansas City Banker Points Out Money Value of Good Roads.

Kansas and Missouri are very active in building good highways "rock roads," as they are called in that country, where limestone is the handiest material. One of the good roads boosters is W. S. Webb, a Kansas City banker, and he puts a year round highway in terms of banking.

"We bankers will lend $10 to $25 an acre more on a farm situated on a rock road," he says. "Bankers in this neighborhood are keen judges of farm values. Most of them have farms as places for rest and play. Few bankers are good farmers when it comes to making actual profits on crops, but their farming pays handsomely in health and in understanding of the problems confronting farmers, with whom we do much of our business."

"The first thing the banker does when you approach him for a loan on farm property is to determine the selling value of the farm. He will lend you half the selling value, and he arrives at the selling value by ascertaining three things:

"First.—The soil, its character, condition and producing capacity, for a fertile farm in good tillth will grow crops, no matter where located or what the nature of its improvements.

"Second.—Its location, which means convenience to markets, schools, stores and other factors that increase value. Here is where the kind of road running past the farm plays a big part.

"Third.—Buildings and improvements.

"These are all estimated in actual money. The money estimates are added. The total represents the selling value of the farm, and the banker will lend half of that.

"Suppose the land is set down at worth $40 an acre. If it is located on a rock road over which the owner can haul crops any month in the year the banker will add $10 an acre for that item. Probably the buildings will not come to more than $10 an acre, so the hard road is worth as much as the buildings in actual money. The total selling value of that farm is $60 an acre, and the banker will lend $30. On land worth $100 an acre a hard road adds $25."—Country Gentleman.

$250,000,000 FOR HIGHWAYS.

This Huge Sum Was Spent in 1914 For Roads in United States.

Very nearly a quarter of a billion dollars were spent in highway construction and maintenance in the United States during the year 1914, as shown by statistics issued by the office of public roads and rural engineering. One-fifth of the work was done under the state aid system, the various state highway departments paying $24,220,000 and the counties and townships $25,220,000. State aid laws are in effect in forty-four states. New Jersey having instituted the system in 1891 and Tennessee and Georgia being among the last to adopt it.

Thirteen states spent $25,000,000 during the year in the construction and maintenance of state roads solely at their own expense, making a total of almost $50,000,000 paid directly out of state funds. One-third as much ($12,500,000) was spent for repairs and maintenance as was spent for new construction ($25,000,000). This shows the enormous loss resulting from the building of types of roads whose surfaces are not durable under present traffic conditions. Six eastern states paid two-thirds as much out of the state treasury for maintenance as for new construction.
